Ó Cuisine – Enda Ó Conghaile

1. Haló, bail ó Dhia ort agus céad fáilte isteach go Ó Cuisine na seachtaine seo anseo ar TG4 (tee-gee-ceathair).
2. Gan dabht, 'sé seo an clár ar a bheimid ag blaiseadh ó na cócairí éagsúla a cuireann saghas réimse a bhíonn siad ag cur ar fáil ina gcuid bialainne ar fud na tíre.
3. Anois arís tráthnóna inniu beidh trí chúrsa le n-ullmhú ag ár n-aoi speisialta, an cócaire Enda Ó Conghaile as Inis Oírr in Árainn. Céad fáilte romhat ar an gclár.
4. Go raibh maith agat.
5. Anois, mar sin. Ó thaobh, is dócha, nuair a lúaitear Inis Oírr, beimid ag súil le cúrsaí mara, ach tá béim ar leith agatsa ar an gclár seo ar chúrsaí feamainne.
6. Táimid ag leagan béime ar cúrsaí feamainne sa gclár seo: beimid ag déanamh arán bán le duileasc, beimid ag déanamh anraith le alaria nó Atlantic wakame, agus déanfaimid milseog le carraigín (ó, ana-dheas ar fad) agus sméara dubha.
7. Go hálainn ar fad mar bharr feabhaí air.
8. Now, is dócha, mórán cócairí a bheadh saghas réimse ana-leathan acu ó thaobh an biachlár a bheidís a chur ar fáil, ach i South Aran bíonn sibh is dócha ag díriú agus go speisialta ar an mbia nádúrtha atá mórtimpeall agus ag fás agus gan dabht bíonn earraí ag iascaireacht ar an bhfarraige.

Ó Cuisine – Enda Conneely

Hello, God bless you and welcome to this week's Ó Cuisine here on TG4.

No doubt, this is the program where we will be tasting from the various cooks that put out a sort of spread of what they put out in their restaurants across the country.

Now again this evening our special guest will be preparing three courses, chef Enda Conneely from Inisheer in the Aran Islands. Welcome on the program.

Thank you.

Now, then. From the side of, I suppose, when one mentions Inisheer, we will be expecting seafood, but you have a special emphasis on this program on seaweed.

We are emphasizing seaweed in this program: we will be making white bread with dulse, we will be making soup with Atlantic wakame, and we will make a dessert with carrageen (oh, very nice) and blackberries.

Altogether lovely as a finishing touch. Now, probably, many cooks who would have a wide range with respect to the menu they would be making available, but in South Aran they are probably focusing especially on the natural food that is around and growing and doubtless there is food coming from the sea.

Ó Cuisine – Enda Ó Conghaile

9. Á, bíonn. A bhformhór. Ach bíonn muid, mar gheall ar an gcineál daoine a thagann isteach, faigheann muid daoine as 'chuile ceard den domhain agus caitheann tú bheith in ann pé rud, feoil nó luibh, aon rud mar seo. Ach an formhór den bhia bíonn baint aige leis an bhfarraige.
10. So,anois,tosóimid,déanfaimid an arán,arán bán, seo den sean-arán baile a bhí deisithe ar fud, déanta 'chuile áit ar fud an chósta thiar, go deimhin.
11. Agus d'fheicfeá anseo é leagtha amuigh ar na fuinneoga tréimhse.
12. Tá punt plúir ansin. Tá gráinne beag salainn.
13. Na hoidis is na rudaí seo ar fad a bheith a lán "gráinne beag" ar 'chuile rud a bheadh ann. A pinch. Yes.
14. Beidh mé ... sóid, níl móran sóid air, is leath spúnóg, agus mar a chéile leis an tsiúcra.
15. Cuirfidh tú an méid aer agus is féidir leat isteach anseo, é sin a scagadh go maith agus cuireann tú suas ansin le do chuid lámha é, freisin. Tá sé seo breá míni. Cuir cuid mhaith aer isteach.
16. Agus seans nach mbíodh na stráiníní chomh fada ó shin ...
17. ... le do lámha, le do lámha a bheith in ann é a chrochadh suas mar sin, é a mheascadh suas.
18. Tá dhá bhealach ann leis an duileasc a chur isteach anseo.
19. Tá ceann anseo, tá sé curtha ar bogadh in uisce. Tugtar é sin amach agus a ghearradh suas.
20. Ach d'fhéadtá sin á chur isteach san oigheann freisin agus é a bhrioscú suas ar feadh deich nóiméad.

Ó Cuisine – Enda Conneely

Ah, yes. Mostly. But we are, because of the kind of people who come in, we get people from every corner of the earth and you have to be able [to make] anything, meat or plant, anything like that. But most of the food is associated with the sea.

So, now, we will begin, we will make the bread, white bread, this is like the old home bread that was made all over, made everywhere all along the west coast, indeed.

And you would see it here, laid out on the window for a while.

There is a pound of flower there. There is a small pinch of salt.

The recipes and all these things there is a lot of "a pinch" of everything that is in it. A pinch. Yes.

I will be [putting in baking] soda, there isn't a lot of baking soda in it, and half a teaspoon, and the same with the sugar. You will put as much air as you can in here, sift it well and, and you pick it up with your hands, too. This is nice and fine. Put a lot of air in it.

And the strainers were likely not long ago ...

... with your hands, with your hands you are able to lift it up like that, to mix it up.

There are two ways to put the dulse in here.

There is one here, it's steeping in water. You take that out and cut it up.

But that could also be put in the oven and crisped up for ten minutes.

Ginger i gCois Fharraige
Le Caitlín Uí Thallamhain

1. Ní raibh crann ná tor le feiceáil fad mo radhairc uaim.
2. Ní raibh a fhios agam go raibh a leithéid d'áit ar dhroim an domhain.
3. Bhí sóirt eagla orm air dtús gur ag brionglóideach a bhí mé agus go dtiocfainn chugam féin agus gan i mo thimpeall ach an gnáthshaol a raibh mé cleachtach air.
4. Ach níor bhrionglóid ar bith é.
5. Bhí carraigeacha eibhir i ngach treo baill – sna ballaí, ag gobadh aníos as an gcré, ina seasamh go dána sna páirceanna nó ar thaobh an bhóthair – uláin mhóra míchumtha a bhí ann ó thús aimsire.
6. “Screabán” a thug an múinteoir ar an gcineál seo talún.
7. Ghabhamar thar aibhneacha, thar phortaigh agus thar riasca.
8. Chonaiceamar taobhanna cnoc gan oiread agus brobh féir ag fás orthu mar nach raibh iontu ach an charraig lom.
9. Ar taobh na láimhe clé chonaiceamar an fharraige mhór agus cúr bán uirthi cois cladaigh ach i ag glioscarnach faoi sholas na gréine.
10. I bhfad uainn bhí Oileáin Árann ag éirí aníos as an aigéan mar a bheadh ollphéisteanna mara a shantaigh teas na gréine.
11. Thit mé i ngrá leis an áit.
12. Ghéill mé do dhraíocht Chonamara.

- Q1. An raibh mórán crann le feiceáil?
- Q2. Cad a bhí i ngach áit?
- Q3. Cad é “screabán”?
- Q4. Cad thairis a ndeachaigh siad?
- Q5. Cén oiléain a chonaic siad?
- Q6. Ar thaitin Conamara le Ginger?

Ginger in Cois Fharraige
By Caitlín Uí Thallamhain

There wasn't a tree or bush as far as I could see.

I didn't know that there was such a place on the face of the earth.

I was sort of afraid at first that I was dreaming and that I would come to myself and nothing around me but the everyday life I was accustomed to.

But it wasn't a dream at all.

There were granite rocks in every direction – in the walls, sticking out of the clay, standing boldly in the fields, or on the side of the road – big, misshapen boulders that were there from the beginning of time.

“Screabán” is what the teacher called this kind of land.

We went over rivers, over bogs and over marshes.

We saw hillsides without even a blade of grass growing on them because they were just bare rock.

On the left side we saw the big sea and white foam on it by the shore, shining in the sunlight.

Far from us were the Aran Islands rising out of the ocean like sea serpents seeking the heat of the sun.

I fell in love with the place.

I succumbed to the magic of Connemara.

Were there a lot of trees to be seen?

What was everywhere?

What is “screabán”?

What did they go over?

Which islands did they see?

Did Ginger like Connemara?
